EXPERIENCE COUNTS

Our Hallmark Rothwell depot opened in August 2017, just 18 months after Hallmark Tractors joined the Russell Group family. Based near Kettering, the depot serves customers in the Northamptonshire and surrounding areas.

Rothwell opened for harvest 2017 and has grown rapidly in its first year. The team has expanded from four to nine and collectively they have a staggering 183 years experience, based mainly on New Holland combines, balers and tractors.

David Flippance is the most recent addition to the team and joins the business with 39 years harvester experience. David has been selling combines for the last 30 years and has a wealth of industry experience.

Rothwell offers sales, parts and service support for the full New Holland range as well as Vaderstad, Pottinger, Hi Spec, Stewart, Shelbourne Reynolds and McConnel. Andy, David, Bryan and Mark's contact details are listed on the back page of the magazine.

CR REVELATION COMBINES

TAKE HARVESTING AUTOMATION TO A NEW LEVEL

Harvest 2019 will see the CR Revelation combine range take automation to a new level with the award-winning IntelliSense™ system. The proven CR combine IntelliCruise™ crop feeding system is now enhanced with the introduction of IntelliSense™ fully automated harvesting. It's a huge step forward in combine technology, taking over decision making from the driver to optimize output, grain quality and operator comfort.

NEW HOLLAND AGRICULTURE

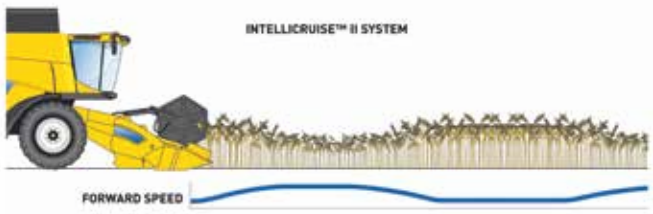
WHAT IS INTELLISENSE™?

Years in development, IntelliSense™ helps address a combine operator's big challenge of maintaining maximum throughput while keeping losses and damaged grain to a minimum. Winner of the Silver Medal at the Agritechnica Innovation Award 2017, this ground breaking feature delivers significant improvements to the combine's productivity:

- Increased daily output
- Reduced grain loss
- Improved grain quality
- Fewer operator decisions
- Better comfort and driver confidence
- Simple user interface
- Save fuel

WHAT IS INTELLICRUISE™?

The CR IntelliCruise™ crop feeding system automatically matches the combine forward speed to crop load and has been refined to work seamlessly with the new IntelliSense™ system. Together these patented technologies provide the operator with fully automated harvesting capabilities.



WITH INTELLISENSE™, THE OPERATOR CAN CHOOSE FROM FOUR HARVESTING STRATEGIES:

- Limited Loss
- Best Grain Quality
- Maximum Capacity
- Fixed Throughput

The patented cleaning shoe sensors provide very precise measurements of the crop load. Based on this data, the combine will constantly adapt Twin Rotor™ speed and vane angle, fan speed and the opening of pre-sieve, upper and lower sieves to automatically deliver the desired result. The patented automatic rotor vane adjustment improves the rotor's power efficiency without impacting the threshing and separation settings, resulting in greater fuel savings and performance.

CX7.80 22' Header

When we change combines, normally every five years, we have demonstrators from Russell's and put them alongside other competitor machines. Our latest, new this year is the New Holland CX7.80. It's our fourth consecutive yellow machine and is the largest we've ever had offering us a drive of 25 tonnes per hour and combine flow rate of 20 tonnes per hour.

We've moved up from a 16ft header to a 22ft. The RTK guidance works better for us than any other system giving much greater precision, especially with wooded areas creating shadow patches on our cropping land.

This year's harvest challenge has been to think outside the box due to the weather, which went from a very wet winter and very cold early spring that brought about land saturation, to baking hard with soil cracks in summer. Harvesting the beans earlier than the barley probably saved us half a tonne per acre as they were ready much sooner than expected. We finished our wheat harvest on August 17 with just the linseed to go.

COMBINABLE AREA: 1100 acres

CROPPING: Winter wheat 500 acres. Milling wheat destined for Warburtons. Varieties - Crusoe, Skyfall, Illustrious; Oilseed rape, Winter barley and Spring linseed.

SOIL TYPES: Largely clay loam

CR9.80 30' Header

If you were a farm business consultant you would say my New Holland CR9.90 now having just completed its third season, with twin rotors and 9 metre header has excessive capacity for the size of my business, but I chose it because I want to maximise the acres I clear in a day and get the job done in a more socially acceptable window.

RTK guidenance is brilliant, especially when you get very tall crops and harvest is in dusty conditions as we've had this year. In years gone by you would struggle to see the edge of the header and not be aware all the crop was in. It also means we can cut long fields in breaks and know we still have a full combine width left rather than ending up with combining say 18 inches for three-quarters of a mile. On board yield mapping and moisture recording are excellent facilities, although of course this years moisture reading has been off the clock, it has been so low, but the wet weight and dry weight readings are a very real benefit most years.

We have had New Holland combines since the 1970s. The service we receive from the whole team at Russell's is exceptional. When we needed a replacement header this year response was immediate. When you experience that level of commitment it concentrates the mind. I also find the combine operator events they run extremely beneficial.

COMBINABLE AREA: 1500 acres

CROPPING: Winter wheat 600 acres – feed wheat destined for Vivergo and local feed mills. Varieties – Graham, Costello, Siskin chosen for high level resistance to Septoria; Oilseed rape, Winter barley, Winter oats and Spring beans.

SOIL TYPES: Sandy clay to gravel

CROFT FARMS, DARLINGTON, COUNTY DURHAM

MATTHEW BELL (FARM MANAGER)

CR9.90 35' Header
CR9080 30' Header

Performance in terms of output, and greater precision through GPS steering, have both improved with our New Holland CR9.90 from Russells in Northallerton. We finished our second season on August 28, two weeks earlier than we would normally expect. Clearly the weather has determined much of that but alongside our other 7-season-old New Holland CR9080 we are now able to clear 20 acres per hour. The CR9.90 with its 35ft header is clearing around 20 per cent faster than the other with its 30ft header.

We contract farm around 2000 acres of our combinable acreage working with 10 different landowners and a variety of soil types and altitudes, which can make life challenging so we are always keen to harvest at exactly the right time. The capacity of the CR9.90 allows us to get the job done much more efficiently.

Croft Farms is owned by the Chater-Norris family. They are keen investors in agriculture and are currently running their fifth and sixth consecutive New Holland combines.

COMBINABLE AREA: 3800 acres

CROPPING: Winter wheat 1700 acres. Varieties – Costello, Revelation, Grafton, Skyfall; Oilseed rape 800 acres, Winter oats 400 acres and Spring beans 300 acres.

SOIL TYPES: Predominantly heavy clay to medium loam

TW & CM WHITE & SONS, ASHBOURNE, DERBYSHIRE WILL WHITE (OWNER)

CX 7080 20' Header

Our family farm at Snelston near Ashbourne is made up of rolling hills with not too much level ground and our New Holland CX7080 complete with Optiwalker self levelling purchased from Hallmark Tractors (part of Russells) as a two year old machine has proved exceptional. It has been a huge advantage this harvest and has performed way in excess of our previous machine with a competitor.

We have also benefitted from yield mapping and moisture data, although obviously this year moisture content hasn't been a problem. Harvest has been a dream with the unusually dry weather and we were finished by August 15. It was simply a case of getting greased up, dieseled up and away we went without a hitch.

We had moved away from New Holland with our previous combine but the performance of the competitor machine we had was not what we would have expected. We're delighted with our first year with the New Holland CX7080 and 20ft varifeed header.

COMBINABLE AREA: 450 acres

CROPPING: Winter wheat 260 acres all sold as feed. Varieties – Siskin and Dunstone (both new this year) and Costello; Winter barley varieties Cassia and Glacier and Spring barley Planet.

SOIL TYPES: Heavy clay to sandy loam.
